PACE leveraged $600,000 for $2.9M in investment in 2022

BY BOB DEMAREE

With Monday's Madison Board of Public Works and Safety meeting being consumed largely by the city PACE program, Madison Mayor Bob Courtney talked about the impact the grants are having on the community.

"It's improving entire neighborhoods," said Courtney. "When you work on one house you're not just affecting that house, you're affecting all the properties around it. So, to have $3.5 million worth of investment in 2022 historic preservation is phenomenal."

For the year, PACE has allocated a total of $599,141.53 in grants with $2,892,436.60 also invested by property owners. "The number we focus on is the leveraging ratio," said Courtney, noting the program's 5 to 1 ratio is driving significant private investment.

Nine applications were approved at Tuesday's meeting totaling $116,859.57 in PACE dollars representing another $583,046.30 by property owners.

"Thank you to every one of the property owners for the investment they've made improving Madison and those neighborhoods," the mayor said.

PACE grants were approved for Gregory and Kathryn Rutherford, 423 West Main St. for $7,500 to include work on doors and stained glass around doors; John and Mary Kelley, 134 East Main St. for $7,500 for tuck pointing and painting; Steve and Elizabeth Thomas, 208 East Second St. for $7,500 to replace all windows; M and S Bailey Farm LLC, 736 West Third St. or $5,233.55 for tuck pointing and replacing an awning with shutters; Carrie Kemper, 712 East Main St. for $7,500 for repairing damaged siding, tuck pointing and replacing windows; and Marcus Gray, 215 Ferry St. for $7,500 that includes tuck pointing, gutters and window repairs.

BY THE COURIER STAFF

An Indianapolis man fleeing police in North Vernon, led officers on a 23-mile, high-speed chase south on State Road 7 before crashing his car into the El Camino Restaurant on Madison's hilltop when he failed to negotiate a sharp curve after police had deflated at least one of his tires.

The chase occurred at 4:12 p.m. on Sunday when officers with the North Vernon Police Department and Jennings County Sheriff's Department were dispatched to North State Street in North Vernon in reference to a vehicle leaving the scene of a crash that occurred near Geneva Road.

Upon arriving in the area, a North Vernon Police officer located the suspect vehicle, a gray 2004 Dodge

'Viral jambalaya'

Early flu cases adding to woes for hospitals

BY MIKE STOBBE AND LINDSEY TANNER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

As Americans head into the holiday season, a rapidly intensifying flu season is straining hospitals already overburdened with patients sick from other respiratory infections.

More than half the states have high or very high levels of flu, unusually high for this early in the season, the government reported on Friday. Those 27 states are mostly in the South and Southwest but include a growing number in the Northeast, Midwest and West.

This is happening when children's hospitals already are dealing with a surge of illnesses from RSV, or respiratory syncytial virus, a common cause of coldlike symptoms that can be serious for infants and the elderly. And COVID-19 is still contributing to more than 3,000 hospital admissions daily, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

In Atlanta, Dr. Mark Griffiths describes the mix as a "viral jambalaya." He said the children's hospitals in his area have at least 30% more patients than usual for this time of year, with many patients forced to wait in emergency rooms for beds to open up.

"I tell parents that COVID was the ultimate bully. It bullied every other virus for two years," said Griffiths, ER medical director of a Children's Health Care of Atlanta downtown hospital.

With COVID-19 rates going down, "they're coming back full force," he said

The winter flu season usually doesn't get going until December or January. Hospitalization rates from flu haven't been this high this early since the 2009 swine flu pandemic, CDC officials say. The highest rates are among those 65 and older and children under 5, the agency said.

"It's so important for people at higher risk to get vaccinated," the CDC's Lynnette Brammer said in a statement Friday.

But flu vaccinations are down from other years, particularly among adults, possibly because the past two seasons have been mild. Flu shots are recommended for nearly all Americans who are at least 6 months old or older.

Adults can get RSV too and that infection can be especially dangerous for older adults who are frail or have chronic illnesses, doctors say. There is not yet a vaccine against RSV although some are in development.

One infectious disease specialist urged Americans to take precautions before gathering for Thanksgiving, including avoiding public crowds, getting COVID-19 tests before they

Firefighters battle house fire, Clifty rescue

BY THE COURIER STAFF

An fire early Monday morning destroyed a house in the 4800 block of China-Manville Road in Jefferson County.

Madison Township Fire Chief Robert Black said firefighters were dispatched at 2:20 a.m. and there were flames through the roof of the structure when the first personnel arrived.

Black said a space heater caught fire in an upstairs bedroom and spread quickly to the rest of the house, which he reported was a rental property owned by Harold Hunt. Black said the space heater had been plugged into a surge protector, which are not equipped to handle the power needed for a space heater, and should always be plugged directly in the wall outlet.

All occupants of the home were able to safely evacuate and there were no injuries.

Firefighters pumped more than 25,000 gallons of water on the structure to put out the fire with the blaze finally extinguished shortly before 6 a.m. Black said firefighters were challenged by cold temperatures in the teens, but were assisted the Jefferson County Highway Department to salt roadways so that water trucks could safety deliver their loads to the fire scene. REMC also arrived within an hour to turn off power to the house.

In addition to Madison Township Fire Department, there fire was battled by Canaan Fire Department, Milton Township-Brooksburg Fire Department and Ryker's Ridge Fire Department.

Meanwhile, at approximately noon on Saturday Madison Township, Ryker's Ridge and Madison Rescue 6 participated in the rescue at Clifty Falls State Park after a dog that had been allowed off its leash by its owner leaped over the wall under the outlook at Big Clifty on Trail 7 and slid down the hillside.

Black said the rescue was challenging for first responders in that it involved using a harness strapped to the rescuer. The rescue took approximately 5 hours to complete with Matt True utilizing the Jefferson County Emergency Management Agency's drone to assist with aerial support. With said working along the cliff was an "arduous task" and described the rescue as "very impressive" with no injuries sustained.

Once the rescue was complete, Black noted the dog was "happy to get topside."

PACE

Three applications were approved for dilapidated structure grants. Jim Pruett was awarded $25,000 for 308 Jefferson Street to include work on the front and rear due to crumbling walls on each side.

"He's basically saving this structure," board member Karl Eaglin said.

"He's saving that whole block," Courtney added. "There are a lot of dilapidated structures on that block, and one by one he's taking them on."

Brian Marshall was awarded $25,000 for 521 West Street to include demolition of an unstable interior caused by termites and tuck pointing. The other dilapidated structure grant was to Steve and Jane Martin in the amount of $17,200 for 907 West Main St. to replace 14 windows, tuck pointing and to make the structure more "water tight."

PACE final awards were approved for Trevor and Van Crafton for $12,500 at 422 St. Michaels Avenue, Zu Tian Zhang and Yu Jiang for $7,500 at 102 East Main St., Charles Requet for $7,500 at 135 East Main St., Marilyn McQueen for $3,600 at 525 West Main St., Patricia Lee Gosman for $7,500 at 418 Cragmont St., Kevin Watkins for $7,500 at 222 West Second St., and Mark Timmons for $1,164.08 at 810 East Second St.

A PACE extension was also granted to Cynthia Stewart at 812 Walnut St. to complete work by Aug. 31, 2023.

Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning, said PACE is currently taking applications for the 2023 cycle with the first deadline being Dec. 5 for the January meeting. "I already have five applications so if you're planning to apply I would recommend getting your application in early."

Courtney noted that PACE is great program that continues to be funded through the collaboration of Jefferson County, the City of Madison and the city's Redevelopment Commission as well as property owner investment.

In other business:

• Approved an expired contract with the Rykers Ridge Water Company in agreement with Madison water. The contract follows mediation that took place related to a lawsuit by Rykers Ridge, Canaan and Dupont water companies over rates increases adopted by the city to help fund a water utility improvement project.

Based on an agreement reached in mediation, Courtney said the new rates will be phased in for the three rural water customers.

"We've created rural utility reseller rates that will establish specific rates just for them the next five years." said Courtney.

Brian Jackson, the city's utility manager, noted that even as construction contracts have been awarded for city's drinking water infrastructure project that they are still in the preliminary stages as the engineer verifies bond information. When the contracts are finalized along with financing, then there will be a notice to proceed for the work to begin.

"In a matter of weeks we will be closing on our SRF loan that we will then bring back to Board of Public Works and Safety for finalization of the three (construction) contracts they've awarded for the water utility improvement project," said Courtney.

• Approved expenditures from the Aviation NRO for payment of retroactive pay increases for Brent Spry, director of the Madison Municipal Airport, and Brian Hemmer, assistant airport director. Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee said it's still being determined how far back the retroactive pay will go but it will be no further than May 1.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Nov. 22, 1963, John F. Kennedy, the 35th President of the United States, was shot to death during a motorcade in Dallas; Texas Gov. John B. Connally, riding in the same car as Kennedy, was seriously wounded. Suspected gunman Lee Harvey Oswald was arrested. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in as president.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1718, English pirate Edward Teach — better known as "Blackbeard" — was killed during a battle off present-day North Carolina.

In 1906, the "S-O-S" distress signal was adopted at the International Radio Telegraphic Convention in Berlin.

In 1935, a flying boat, the China Clipper, took off from Alameda, California, carrying more than 100,000 pieces of mail on the first trans-Pacific airmail flight.

In 1967, the U.N. Security Council approved Resolution 242, which called for Israel to withdraw from territories it had captured the previous June, and implicitly called on adversaries to recognize Israel's right to exist.

In 1975, Juan Carlos was proclaimed King of Spain.

In 1977, regular passenger service between New York and Europe on the supersonic Concorde began on a trial basis.

In 1990, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, having failed to win reelection to the Conservative Party leadership on the first ballot, announced she would resign.

In 1995, acting swiftly to boost the Balkan peace accord, the U.N. Security Council suspended economic sanctions against Serbia and eased the arms embargo against the states of the former Yugoslavia.

In 2005, Angela Merkel took power as Germany's first female chancellor.

In 2010, thousands of people stampeded during a festival in the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, leaving some 350 dead and hundreds injured in what the prime minister called the country's biggest tragedy since the 1970s reign of terror by the Khmer Rouge.

In 2014, a 12-year-old Black boy, Tamir Rice, was shot and mortally wounded by police outside a Cleveland recreation center after brandishing what turned out to be a pellet gun. (A grand jury declined to indict either the patrolman who fired the fatal shot or a training officer.)

Ten years ago: In a series of constitutional amendments, Egyptian President Mohammed Morsi granted himself sweeping new powers and placed himself above judicial oversight.

Five years ago: Ratko Mladic, the Bosnian Serb general whose forces carried out the worst massacre in Europe since World War II, was convicted of genocide and other crimes by the United Nations' Yugoslav war crimes tribunal and sentenced to life behind bars. A former confidant of ousted leader Robert Mugabe, Emmerson Mnangagwa, returned to Zimbabwe to become the next president a day after Mugabe resigned; he promised a "new, unfolding democracy." Former sports doctor Larry Nassar, accused of molesting at least 125 girls and young women while working for USA Gymnastics and Michigan State University, pleaded guilty to multiple charges of sexual assault. (Nassar would be sentenced to 40 to 175 years in prison on those charges.)

One year ago: A committee investigating the Jan. 6 U.S. Capitol insurrection issued subpoenas to five more individuals, including former President Donald Trump's ally Roger Stone and conspiracy theorist Alex Jones, as lawmakers deepened their probe of the rallies that preceded the deadly attack. President Joe Biden said he was nominating Jerome Powell for a second term as Federal Reserve chair. The families of most of those killed and wounded in the 2018 Florida high school massacre said they had reached a multi-million dollar settlement with the federal government over the FBI's failure to stop the gunman even though it had received information he intended to attack. A judge in Florida officially exonerated four Black men of the false accusation that they had raped a white woman seven decades earlier in Groveland, Florida.

On Nov. 23, 1971, the People's Republic of China was seated in the U.N. Security Council.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1889, the first jukebox made its debut in San Francisco, at the Palais Royale Saloon. (The coin-operated device consisted of four listening tubes attached to an Edison phonograph.)

In 1903, Enrico Caruso made his American debut at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, appearing in "Rigoletto."

In 1936, Life, the photojournalism magazine created by Henry R. Luce (loos), was first published.

In 1963, President Lyndon B. Johnson proclaimed Nov. 25 a day of national mourning following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In 1980, some 2,600 people were killed by a series of earthquakes that devastated southern Italy.

In 1996, a commandeered Ethiopian Airlines Boeing 767 crashed into the water off the Comoros Islands, killing 125 of the 175 people on board, including all three hijackers.

In 2000, in a setback for Al Gore, the Florida Supreme Court refused to order Miami-Dade County officials to resume hand-counting its election-day ballots. Meanwhile, Gore's lawyers argued in a brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court that the high court should stay out of the Florida election controversy.

In 2006, former KGB spy Alexander Litvinenko died in London from radiation poisoning after making a deathbed statement blaming Russian President Vladimir Putin.

In 2008, the government unveiled a bold plan to rescue Citigroup, injecting a fresh $20 billion into the troubled firm as well as guaranteeing hundreds of billions of dollars in risky assets.

In 2011, Yemen's authoritarian President Ali Abdullah Saleh (AH'-lee ahb-DUH'-luh sah-LEH') agreed to step down amid a fierce uprising to oust him after 33 years in power.

In 2020, the federal government recognized Joe Biden as the "apparent winner" of the Nov. 3 election, formally starting the transition of power; President Donald Trump still refused to concede and vowed to continue a court fight after General Services Administrator Emily Murphy gave the green light for Biden to coordinate with federal agencies ahead of his inauguration. Michigan certified Biden's win in the battleground state.

Ten years ago: Supporters and opponents of Egyptian President Mohammed Morsi clashed in the streets of Cairo and other major cities in the worst violence since Morsi took office nearly five months earlier. Actor Larry Hagman, best known for playing the scheming oil baron J.R. Ewing on TV's "Dallas," died in Dallas at the age of 81.

Five years ago: The holiday shopping season kicked off with some major retailers opening on Thanksgiving afternoon or evening, hoping for a lift from a better economy.

One year ago: A jury in Virginia ordered 17 white nationalist leaders and organizations to pay more than $26 million in damages over the violence that erupted during the deadly 2017 Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville in 2017. A federal jury in Cleveland found that CVS, Walgreens and Walmart pharmacies recklessly distributed massive amounts of pain pills in two Ohio counties. (A judge awarded $650 million in damages.) NASA launched a spacecraft on a mission to smash into an asteroid and test whether it would be possible to knock a speeding space rock off course. (NASA said the mission was a success.) President Joe Biden ordered a record 50 million barrels of oil released from America's strategic reserve, aiming to bring down gasoline and other costs. The only person convicted in the 2007 murder in Italy of British student Meredith Kercher, Rudy Guede, was freed after serving most of his 16-year prison sentence. Madison recognized by AIM for Main Street project

BY THE COURIER STAFF

The city of Madison was recently awarded a Community Placemaking Award for its project to re-envision Main Street.

Accelerate Indiana Municipalities (AIM) presented the award earlier this month during the annual awards luncheon at the 2022 AIM Ideas Summit in French Lick, Indiana. Madison won in the under 15,000 population category.

Madison's Main Street has been a four-lane highway for most of its existence. In 2020, the city took over maintenance of a portion of the state road with a road transfer agreement. In March 2021, Madison formed a steering committee to re-envision how Main Street could become a safer and a more welcoming avenue for tourists, residents and businesses. An eight-block section was reduced from four-lanes to two with a center turn lane, designated parking, and a safe zone marked with hash marks. The safe zone was designed to create an area for drivers to safely exit their vehicles after parking and a visual deterrent for moving vehicles providing an overall safer environment.

"A tremendous investment is being made to elevate Madison's quality of life and community capacity. We are honored to be recognized by AIM for second year in row," Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said.

"In my role I crisscross the state many times over and see the critical importance of building and maintaining a strong, safe municipal core. Madison's innovative approach is great example of the creative thinking happening in cities and towns," AIM CEO Matt Greller said. "I am thrilled for Madison to be recognized for not being afraid to reimagine the traditional way we think of Main Street."

CRASH

MPD Photo

A van in the parking lot of El Camino Restaurant, 901 Lanier Drive, was shoved into the building by the impact of a vehicle that crashed during a police pursuit on Sunday. There were customers and staff in the building but all escaped injury except for the driver of the car, Joshua D. Ahern of Indianapolis, who was flown to a Louisville trauma center with life threatening injuries.

Stratus operated by Joshua D. Ahern, of Indianapolis, and observed numerous moving violations by the vehicle. The officer turned around to conduct a traffic stop on West Franklin Street but the driver failed to yield and began attempting to evade police.

The driver narrowly missed hitting a pedestrian with a dog and drove through front yards on Bay Street while leading police and deputies on a vehicle pursuit that continued southbound on North State Street to South State Street and then southbound on State Road 7.

During the pursuit, Ahern committed numerous traffic violations while fleeing from police and deputies from multiple agencies on the nearly 23-mile chase reaching speeds in excess of 105 mph.

Madison Police joined the pursuit near the intersection of State Road 7 and JA Berry Lane with the chase bearing down on Madison's busy hilltop. MPD Sgt. William Watterson attempted to end the pursuit by utilizing a tire deflation device and managed to puncture one rear tire of the vehicle at that point. However, Ahern continued to flee police South onto Lanier Drive until he lost control of the vehicle on a sharp left-hand curve in the 900 block of Lanier Drive and crashed into the parking lot of the El Camino Restaurant, 901 Lanier Drive. Ahern's Dodge collided with a parked Chevrolet SUV and a parked Chevrolet, both unoccupied, but the impact shoved the van through the front wall of the business.

Ahern was immediately apprehended by officers, and medical personnel were called to the scene. He was transported to Norton King's Daughters' Health in Madison and later flown by helicopter to a Louisville trauma center for injuries he sustained during the crash. No other individuals or officers were injured during the incident.

"There were several people inside the building at the time of the crash so we were very lucky that nobody was injured," Madison Police Chief John Wallace said.

Ahern is facing preliminary felony and misdemeanor charges including: Driving without a license, operating without financial responsibility with prior conviction, leaving the scene of an accident, criminal recklessness, resisting law enforcement with a vehicle, reckless driving and aggressive driving.

The investigation is ongoing and additional information and charges may be forthcoming.

"We are investigating the crash but the charges will mainly be filed by authorities in Jennings County," Wallace said, noting that Ahern is still undergoing treatment for his injuries.

Departments involved in the incident include: Jennings County Sheriff's Department, Jefferson County Sheriff's Department, Madison Police Department, Hanover Police Department, Indiana Conservation Officers at the crash scene, Madison Fire Department, Norton King's Daughters' Health, PHI Air Medical-Madison and River Town Towing and Recovery.

City to honor Weber tonight and at Turkey Shootout

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Ahead of this week's Turkey Shootout basketball games between Madison and Southwestern, Madison Mayor Bob Courtney will hold a special ceremony at tonight's Madison City Council meeting to recognize a former resident with ties to both programs by proclaiming Wednesday, Nov. 23, 2022, Stanley Weber Day.

Stan Weber, the last living member of the Madison Cubs 1950 IHSAA state championship team, will be recognized by proclamation and presented a Distinguished Hoosier Award from Governor Eric Holcomb's office. On Wednesday there will be a private luncheon in Weber's honor with another Indiana basketball legend, Bobby Plump of the 1954 state champion Milan Indians, as guest speaker. Later on Wednesday, Webster will be recognized at the annual Turkey Shootout between the Cubs and Rebels at Connor K. Salm Gym.

Webster was actually a member of two celebrated Madison teams — the 1949 team he played on was the state runner-up — and after graduation he joined the US Marine Corps, served from 1951-54 and was a sergeant while serving in the Korean War in 1953 and 1954. He then graduated from Hanover College with a bachelor of science and enjoyed a long career as a high school teacher and coach until retiring in 1989.

During his time as coach, Webster posted a 409-230 career record that included stops at Southwestern, Austin, Vevay, Noblesville, South Ripley, Mitchell and Brownstown Central. He won six sectionals — including one each at Southwestern, South Ripley and Mitchell and three at Brownstown — and coached two Indiana All-Stars including 1974 Indiana Mr. Basketball Steve Collier at Southwestern and 1986 All-Star Jeff Morning at Brownstown.

"Nobody wants to bring a virus to the table," said Dr. William Schaffner, of Vanderbilt University.

The American Academy of Pediatrics and Children's Hospital Association this week urged the Biden administration to declare an emergency and mount a national response to "the alarming surge of pediatric respiratory illnesses." An emergency declaration would allow waivers of Medicaid, Medicare or Children's Health Insurance Program requirements so that doctors and hospitals could share resources and access emergency funding, the groups said in a letter.

Rebels hold off Dearborn down the stretch to claim 52-48 win

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Ashley Fulton scored 19 points, Riley Scroggins had a double-double and Claudia Oliver hit four free throws in the final minute as Southwestern held off South Dearborn to win 52-48 in girls basketball Saturday at home.

The Rebels built an eight-point lead with just under six minutes to play, but the team's inexperience showed as turnovers and rushed shots allowed South Dearborn to climb back into the game and tie it at 48-48 with 2:02 to play.

But rather than panic, Southwestern settled down and did what it needed to do, getting a big rebound off a Knight miss with under a minute left and forcing a turnover on a key possession with 23 seconds to go.

Oliver, a foreign-exchange student who came into the game averaging 11 points per game, did the rest, hitting 4-of-6 attempts from the free-throw line, including the last three with under 11 seconds to go, to ice the win.

"I thought for three and a half quarters we played pretty well. And then the last half of that fourth quarter we got a little bit rattled," Southwestern coach Brian Crank said. "They got a couple

Pacers follow loss to Rising Sun with whipping of Edinburgh 45-36

BY JORDAN BEAR

Switzerland County was looking to continue its girls basketball domination over rival Rising Sun on Friday night, but the Shiners didn't let that happen using a late run to propel them to a 45-36 win.

The game was close from the opening tip. The Shiners grabbed an early 8-3 lead, but Switzerland responded with an 8-0 run to close the quarter and take an 11-8 advantage. The second quarter didn't disappoint as Switzerland County got baskets from Courtney Higgins and Halle Archer to close out the half and grab a 23-22 lead at the break. The third period was an almost identical quarter and the Pacers were clinging to a 30-29 lead heading into the final period.

Much of the fourth quarter was played similarly close with Switzerland County using it's solid 3-2 zone defense to hold a small lead for much of the quarter including 36-34 with 3:09 to go. But then the wheels completely fell off late as Rising Sun closed out the game on an 11-0 run to stun the Pacers 45-36 and claim the Ruler of the River Trophy.

Switzerland coach Brooke Todd she said the outcome came down to toughness after her team has battled illness all week.

"A lot of things happened. They were tired, a lot of things were going on this week because of sickness on the team," Todd said. "I think down the stretch it comes down to toughness from our team. A few things didn't go our way and we have to know how to react to that. We have a young team and we're not used to being in situations like that so hopefully we can begin to learn from a game like this and know what to do in the future when we are in those situations."

The biggest advantage in the game for Rising Sun was at the free-throw line where the Shiners were plus-14 points on 14-for-19 shooting compared

Jack Wininger scored 15 points and had 11 rebounds to lead Hanover while Ty Houston had 14 points and six boards.

Hanover led by six points late and held off a rally by River Falls to claim the three-point win in the second game.

Houston scored 13 points and had eight rebounds and five assists to lead the Panthers while Max Greenamoyer had 11 points. Wininger had nine points and 10 rebounds.

Hanover, now 2-2 on the season, hosts Hope College on Tuesday, Nov. 29.

New coach Saturday can't solve problems for Colts

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Jeff Saturday's hiring as interim coach re-energized the Indianapolis Colts — for a week.

On Sunday, the old problems resurfaced.

One week after winning in Saturday's road debut, the Colts produced the fast start they've talked about all season and a stifling three-quarter performance from the defense — only to see it unravel over the final 15 minutes when the offense couldn't convert scoring opportunities and the defense wore down again.

The result: The Philadelphia Eagles rallied for a 17-16 victory that ruined Saturday's home debut.

"If, if, if — you've got to make plays and when you have opportunities to finish games against really good teams," quarterback Matt Ryan said. "You've got to finish them, and unfortunately, we didn't do that."

Finishing was a problem for Indy (4-6-1) long before Saturday was hired.

The Colts lost their final two games last season to miss the playoffs and had to settle for a season-opening tie at Houston after a missed field goal in overtime.

When they couldn't slow down Derrick Henry and Tennessee in Week 7, Ryan was benched. When they couldn't hold a late lead against Washington in Week 8, offensive coordinator Marcus Brady was fired. And when the Colts got blown out at New England in Week 9, owner Jim Irsay fired Frank Reich and hired Saturday.

Chase McLaughlin's missed field goal from 51 yards gave Eagles quarterback Jalen Hurts good field position.

The new coach led his team to an impressive Week 10 win at Las Vegas.

Then came Sunday.

How close have the Colts been? They've lost their last two home games, to the Commanders and Eagles, by identical scores and under similar circumstances — unable to rally after giving up TDs in the final 90 seconds.

"When you're leading, you start thinking about, 'How did we let it slip away? What were the misfires? What were those plays that were critical that led to us losing the lead?' " said Jonathan Taylor, who rushed for 84 yards and a touchdown.

There was plenty of blame to be shared as Philadelphia (9-1) rebounded from its first loss of the season by overcoming a fourth-quarter, double-digit deficit for the first time since 2010.

Chase McLaughlin's missed field goal from 51 yards gave Eagles quarterback Jalen Hurts good field position. It took only five plays for Hurts to cut the deficit to 13-10, courtesy of a 22-yard scoring strike to Quez Watkins.

The Colts were in position to answer midway through the quarter after Parris Campbell's 31-yard catch set up first-and-goal from Philadelphia's 5-yard line. But a 14-yard sack on third down forced the Colts to settle for a 37-yard field goal and a 16-10 lead.

Hurts delivered again on the next Eagles series, drawing a 39-yard pass-interference penalty against Zaire Franklin on third-and-2. Nine plays later, with Indy's defenders spread out across the field, Hurts took the snap and sprinted untouched between the hash marks for the go-ahead 8-yard TD run.

"Too many mistakes, too many negative plays, missing kicks, you can't play a team that good and give them that many opportunities," Saturday said. "Ultimately, they made one more play than we did."

Hurts' late TD run gives Eagles 17-16 win over Colts

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — When Jalen Hurts saw the middle of the field open up, he tucked the ball and ran.

A few minutes later, the Philadelphia Eagles' Super Bowl quest was back in high gear, too.

Six days after Philly lost its first game of the season, Hurts scored on an 8-yard touchdown run with 1:20 to play, and the Eagles rallied for a 17-16 win over the Indianapolis Colts on Sunday.

"(Coach) Nick (Sirianni) just kept telling me to be who I am," Hurts said. "Some things weren't going our way, but I felt there was never a doubt."

He certainly played fearlessly.

Hurts repeatedly kept the ball in his hands on short-yardage plays and delivered often — with a little help from teammates who sometimes literally pushed him past the first-down marker. And when the Eagles needed to make big plays, Hurts didn't flinch.

The third-year quarterback went 18 of 25 with 190 yards through the air, throwing for one score early in the fourth quarter to cut the deficit to 13-10, before capping his 16-carry, 86-yard rushing day with the decisive score. It was the first time since 2010 — a span of 44 games — that Philadelphia (9-1) won after starting the fourth quarter down by double digits.

The Eagles won their seventh straight road game.

"You put the ball in the hands of players you need a big moment from," Sirianni said. "Jalen took it from there."

Indianapolis (4-6-1) never trailed until Hurts' final run as interim coach Jeff Saturday fell to 1-1 since replacing the fired Frank Reich.

But while the Colts held Philadelphia to its lowest point total since a 13-7 loss to the New York Giants last Nov. 28, they struggled to contain Hurts.

When the Eagles lined up with less than 90 seconds to play and four receivers spread across the field, Hurts read the defense and sprinted straight to the end zone before Indy's defense could react.

"Ultimately, they made one more play than we did," Saturday said. "I thought our defense was playing good, playing good enough to win."

Indy had one last shot but the drive stalled before it reached midfield.

For most of the day, the Colts played well. They drove 75 yards on their opening possession, taking a 7-0 lead on Jonathan Taylor's 1-yard run — Indy's first TD on its first possession since last Dec. 25.

The Colts could only muster three more field goals by Chase McLaughlin. His 51-yard attempt that missed to the right set up Philadelphia's first TD — a 22-yard pass from Hurts to Quez Watkins with 13:31 left in the game.

The Colts made it 16-10 on McLaughlin's third field goal of the day with 4:37 to go, but Hurts drew a 39-yard pass-interference call on Zaire Franklin and called his own number nine plays later.

"That's a tough one to swallow," said Colts quarterback Matt Ryan, who played high school football near Philadelphia. "Make no mistake, that's a good football team. We did a lot of really good things, but we made too many mistakes and that one feels like we let it get away."

STAT PACK

Eagles: Miles Sanders had 13 carries for 47 yards. ... DeVonta Smith finished with six receptions for 78 yards and A.J. Brown had five catches for 60 yards. ... The Eagles sacked Ryan five times including on third-and-9 in the final minute. ... Philadelphia has beaten Indy four consecutive times in the series.

Colts: Ryan was 23 of 32 with 213 yards and passed Hall of Famer Dan Marino for No. 6 on the NFL's career list for passing attempts. Ryan's total of 8,359 is one more than Marino. ... Taylor carried 22 times for 84 yards and scored for the second straight week. ... Michael Pittman Jr. caught six passes for 75 yards and Parris Campbell had five receptions for 67 yards. ... Backup quarterback Nick Foles was inactive against the team he led to the Super Bowl 52 title.

EMOTIONAL DAY

As Sirianni entered the locker room, he was seen wiping tears from his eyes. It was Sirianni's first game back in Indy since he left Reich's staff to take the Philadelphia job following the 2020 season. Sirianni said he was touched by the reactions from the players he coached from 2018-20 — and the absence of Reich.

"It was good see some familiar faces to guys I coached," he said. "But you don't want to know what I think about him (Reich) not being here."

Burrow throws 4 TD passes, Bengals rally past Steelers 37-30

BY WILL GRAVES

PITTSBURGH — So much for the Cincinnati Bengals struggling to score without Ja'Marr Chase. Or Joe Mixon for that matter.

The defending AFC champions can hurt opponents in all kinds of ways no matter who's in the lineup. Joe Burrow laid the proof bare in a 37-30 victory over Pittsburgh on Sunday.

Yes, that was Samaje Perine setting a franchise record by catching three touchdown passes, the most in a single game by a Cincinnati running back. Yes, that was practice squad call-up Trent Irwin hauling in the first score of his four-year career with a 1-yard grab in the back of the end zone to give the Bengals the lead for good midway through the third quarter.

Two-plus months removed from an upset home loss to the Steelers in Week 1 in which he was pummeled relentlessly, Burrow responded by going 24 of 39 for 355 yards and four touchdowns with two interceptions.

"He's always comfortable," Cincinnati coach Zac Taylor said. "The whole world could be falling down around him (and it doesn't faze him) ... he's a special player."

One who is hardly doing it alone. The Bengals (6-4) have won four of five following a 2-3 start, topping 30 points in all four wins, the last two despite Chase sitting out while recovering from a hip injury.

"It just shows what we've got," said Cincinnati receiver Tee Higgins, who caught nine passes for 148 yards. "We've got firepower."

The Bengals piled up 408 yards of total offense and put together touchdown drives of 79, 92 and 93 yards to beat the Steelers (3-7) for the fourth time in five meetings.

"I think we're playing as good as anybody," said Burrow, who passed 10,000 career yards passing in 36 games, tying him with Hall of Famer Kurt Warner for the third-fastest player in league history to reach that plateau. "We're hitting our stride offensively."

Mixon, coming off a five-touchdown performance in a blowout win over Carolina two weeks ago, managed just 20 yards rushing before entering the NFL's concussion protocol. No matter. Perine stepped in and turned flips from Burrow into touchdowns of 29, 11 and 6 yards, the final one with Steelers defensive back Levi Wallace on Perine's back that gave the Bengals a 34-23 lead with 4:30 to go.

"I'm the checkdown (guy) and fortunate to have some space when (Burrow) checks down to make something happen," Perine said. "Other than that, I'm just the next guy up."

Pittsburgh (3-7) saw its chance of repeating its Week 1 upset it pulled off in Cincinnati in September vanish in the second half as a 20-17 lead slipped away. Rookie Kenny Pickett passed for 265 yards and a touchdown and Najee Harris ran for 90 yards and two scores, but the NFL's second-lowest scoring offense sputtered after halftime.

"Our defense did a great job to give us a chance to win the game and we didn't come through in the second half," Pickett said. "That's on us. we have to get it fixed and have two strong halves in order to beat a team like that."

The Steelers managed just 52 total yards on their first six drives of the second half and turned a pair of short fields into only three points. That was all the space Burrow needed to likely end any slim outside chance Pittsburgh had in being a factor in the AFC North race down the stretch.

"It's not good," Harris said. "But we just have to be here and stack bricks. ... It was a tough one. We really wanted this one."

WATT HAPPENS

The Steelers failed to disrupt Burrow as effectively as they did in Week 1, when they sacked him seven times and forced five Bengals turnovers. Pittsburgh took down Burrow just twice, though linebacker T.J. Watt provided another highlight-reel play when he simultaneously fought off a block from Bengals tackle La'el Collins and snatched Burrow's pass in mid-air for his sixth career interception and second this season against Burrow.

"I would love to say that there's something I can do about that, but there's nothing I can do about that," Burrow said.

TURNING POINT

The Steelers started a drive at the Cincinnati 47 trailing by four early in the fourth quarter. A 13-yard run by Harris gave Pittsburgh a first down before things went sideways. A holding call and an illegal man downfield penalty forced the Steelers back 15 yards. Two incompletions and a draw play to Harris led to a punt.

Cincinnati took over at its own 7 and needed just eight plays to reach the end zone, with Burrow completing four of his passes on the drive, including a 32-yard catch-and-run by Irwin, playing in his 12th career game.

"We had the ball at midfield (and) we don't produce points)," Steelers head coach Mike Tomlin said. "Pinned them back and they go the length of the field. That's a significant swing."

CHRISMAN DEBUTS

The Kevin Huber era in Cincinnati may be over. The longtime punter — whose 216 games played is a franchise record — sat in favor of Drue Chrisman. Chrisman averaged 50 yards on three punts.

INJURIES

Steelers: WR Miles Boykin (oblique) and backup RB Jaylen Warren (hamstring) left in the first half. C Mason Cole (foot) did not start the second half and was replaced by J.C. Hassenauer.

UP NEXT

Bengals: Travel to AFC South-leading Tennessee (7-3) next Sunday.

to Switzerland County's 0-for-2. Todd couldn't have been happier with her team defensively, but noted that settling for jump shots on offense hurt the Pacers' ability to get to the foul line.

"Defensively I couldn't be happier; we held them to 27% shooting, which is all you can ask for," Todd said. "However, we have to stop settling for jump shots so much. We're not going to get to the free throw line as much if all we do is shoot outside shots. We have to learn to drive to the basket and finish and earn our shots at the line."

The Pacers were led by Macy Collier with 12 points, while Courtney Higgins and Halle Archer each had nine points.

Alyssa Simpson led Rising Sun with 12 points.

The Pacers were back in action Saturday with a much different outcome by jumping on an short-handed Edinburgh squad from the start. Switzerland led 39-6 at halftime and cruised to the easy win.

Collier scored a career-high 16 points to lead the way while Higgins had 11 points and Bri Stow and Lauren Smith each scored nine.

Switzerland, now 3-2 on the season, travels to North Decatur on Wednesday in a game that will be played in the school's auxiliary gymnasium.

Cohabiting couple should mop up mess

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I am moving in with my boyfriend in a few months. He is everything I've ever wanted in a partner, and I'm excited to move into the small one-bedroom condo, which he owns.

I've been spending most nights there since we started dating a year ago.

I only have one concern … he is incredibly messy.

We're talking piles of laundry all over the place, trash overflowing, and months-long expired food in the refrigerator.

I'm quite the opposite. I like everything neat and tidy. I know that I'm going to need the space much, much cleaner to comfortably live there.

What's the right way to address this? And what is the right time to do so?

I'm particularly conscious of the fact that I'm moving into his place. Right now, when I spend the nights, I'm technically still his guest.

I do some cleaning already, but feel like I can't be too critical at this point about the piles of laundry and leftover food.

I've tried to raise it gently. I don't want him to be put on the defensive, especially in his own home, but things definitely need to change.

— Clean, Please!

Dear Clean, Please!: Some blunt honesty on your part would have been well-expressed up until the fifth time you decided to sleep over in his apartment.

Instead, you've chosen to continue to spend your nights there without ever honestly expressing how unacceptable this is (to you), so he has every reason to believe that you're basically cool with his lifestyle.

If things "definitely need to change," then you must establish this thoroughly before you commit to moving in.

This should not be delivered as an ultimatum, but as you stating a simple truth: "I'm not willing to live the way you live. It's waaaaay too messy and dirty for me."

Patient wonders about befriending physician

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I am a happily married, 54-year-old woman. I have a great primary medical provider.

"Rebecca" is a nurse practitioner in a large practice. I've been going to her for about four years.

Rebecca is personable, interesting, authentic, and has an easy and fun sense of humor. She asks about my family, vacations, etc., and seems to just be a good person.

From day one, I leave every medical appointment wanting to be friends with her.

At my most recent pre-op appointment, she greeted me with a huge smile and a very enthusiastic, "I'm SO glad you're finally able to have this surgery! I'm SO happy for you!"

I have no idea if this is just her typical "bedside manner," but I was quite touched.

If Rebecca were not my doctor, I would invite her to coffee, and be open to either making a new friend — or not.

But given the boundaries of this relationship, is there any way to figure out if we could be friends, or if this is just how she is with all her patients?

And ethically, CAN a doctor and patient become friends?

If so, it would be worth switching to a different provider in the practice, but I don't want to make that switch for nothing.

— What's Appropriate?

Wellness Checked

Dear Checked: The most "appropriate" and ethical stance is for everyone to stay in their boxes; "Rebecca" remaining your excellent and humane health care provider, and you remaining her grateful patient.

Practitioners and patients do step out of these boxes because they are human beings and sometimes human beings just click.

If you want to take a stab at friendship outside the office, do not ask her for coffee (that's a little too intimate).

Contact her via email (not through the patient portal), and invite her to a group event along with other friends — a fundraiser, hike, or performance.

She can then accept or demur based on her own comfort-level.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Strike a happy medium between your job and social activities. Friends may push for attention, but they have to take second place when business calls. Accomplish your dreams by retaining powerful focus.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You may come to realize that some of your friends are poor business advisers. Take a rain check on someone's "can't miss" scheme and keep your money in your pocket. Keep your attention trained on long-term goals.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Applying due diligence to your duties helps you be more efficient and organized, clearing your schedule to make more time for personal activities and play. You may need to pack more activities into a shorter work week.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Your highs and lows can depend upon your outlook. You may resent someone pushing you into making a decision about something but be sure you are wise and logical enough to consider the advantages, too.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Your friendliness and thoughtfulness can shine through when you anticipate the needs of others. You might be ready, able and willing to provide needed support, but someone you love may be stubborn about accepting a helping hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Always protect your energy and be discriminating about who you choose to hang out with. If you only judge people by their apparent material success, you could miss out on someone who has true spiritual or philosophical depth.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Avoid impulsively extending invitations to people you barely know; the reactions you receive from others may be unpredictable. You may need to make some concessions to get family plans rolling and avoid issues.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Your long-range planning skills can be better than usual when you team up with a strategically minded partner. Although few people can fool you in a business transaction, you may be Very softhearted in your personal life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Avoid acting on impulse or not taking the time to study the consequences of your actions; if you want validation, give it to yourself. A family member could offer wise advice if you are tempted to go overboard.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Be a student of success who seeks out mentors and embraces the knowledge shared by people with greater experience. You might possess the drive and initiative, while a partner has the knowledge and wisdom.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You may be at your best when you have a concise plan to follow. To keep your finances safe from harm, you must be aware of a shift in business practices, such as new fees, and steer clear of impulsive purchases.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You usually want to be in harmony with others but someone who is focused on making a profit could try your patience. It is admirable to be cooperative and a team player, but remember your own needs, too.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — When you've done the self-work, you can cruise through the day feeling tolerant and serene. When you are at peace with yourself, you can avoid being triggered by fears and worries that may make other people flee or freeze.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — New isn't necessarily better but people are often attracted to the newest things anyway. Check in with yourself — you may actually be contented with what you already own. Following passing trends can prove costly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Not every activity will be productive. Sometimes cleaning out closets or organizing your desk, however, will make it easier to get a job done. A loved one's suggestions are likely to be little more than wishful thinking.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Your work, or your health, may seem to present some challenges now. You may decide it's time to change your habits to overcome the obstacles limiting you. You can be logical and intuitive at the same time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Talk things over before you jump in head first. A new romantic prospect, investment or hobby may need a set of guardrails. You may easily get carried away with fantasies so be sure to set some reasonable limits.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may easily detect subterfuge and falsehoods, but misunderstandings could still develop during negotiations unless you are crystal clear about your intentions. Consider whether to step in to settle complicated family squabbles.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — When you've done enough healing, reality can be your friend instead of something to run from. Finish your tasks and fulfill promises with consistency. Build your self-mastery and you'll never look back.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Ignoring the facts will not change them. This isn't a good time to make financial decisions or to become entangled in a get-rich scheme. You may be dealing with people who are deceptive or simply blind to the truth.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Find enough quiet and space for spiritual practice and inner communion and make it a regular habit. Keep a new acquaintance at arm's length until the potential of the relationship can be explored more thoroughly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Let your head rule your heart. Your hectic schedule leaves little time for phone calls and social activities. You might find it difficult to mix business with pleasure, so put off friendly chats until tomorrow.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — When you are tough-minded and being less pleasing, some people may not warm up to you. However, there are people who will appreciate the way you handle responsibilities and consider you to be a steadying influence.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — What you think is private might be more apparent than you think. Be sure tasks are complete before you indulge yourself. Embrace your authentic self, practice self-care and give yourself plenty of praise for things you are proud of.

Bolton's 24 points lead No. 2 Gonzaga over No. 4 Kentucky

BY NICHOLAS K. GERANIOS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

SPOKANE, Wash. — Gonzaga coach Mark Few wasn't sure how the No. 2 Bulldogs would play against No. 4 Kentucky after losing at No. 11 Texas earlier in the week.

He needn't have worried.

Rasir Bolton scored 24 points, Drew Timme added 22, and Gonzaga beat cold-shooting Kentucky 88-72 on Sunday night in the off-campus Spokane Arena.

Julian Strawther had 20 points and 14 rebounds for Gonzaga, which was coming off its biggest margin of defeat since 2014 in Wednesday's 93-74 loss to the Longhorns.

"You were hoping that's how your team responds after a disappointing loss," Few said. "It was really, really big."

Anton Watson had 10 points and 10 rebounds and spent the evening guarding reigning player of the year Oscar Tshiebwe, who was in foul trouble much of the game.

"Anton was phenomenal tonight," Few said. "He was spectacular."

Tshiebwe still finished with 20 points and 15 rebounds for Kentucky (3-2), which shot just 39% in the game compared to 56% for Gonzaga.

Gonzaga (3-1) dominated the first half. The Bulldogs led 25-15 with less than eight minutes left in the first, holding the Wildcats to 4-of-22 shooting. But Gonzaga committed eight turnovers to help keep Kentucky in the game.

Gonzaga went on a 14-3 run to expand its cushion to 41-25 by halftime. Tshiebwe had 14 points in the first half to lead all scorers.

"I was not stepping up like I should," Tshiebwe said. "I've got to get better."

Kentucky coach John Calipari pointed to his team's 25% shooting in the first half as a key.

"We can't miss every open shot," Calipari said. "In the first half it was so embarrassing we couldn't run a play."

Kentucky's Jacob Toppin said the team "got ourselves into a hole we couldn't get out of." But the Wildcats found their shooting touch in the second half, going on a 14-6 run to cut Gonzaga's lead to 47-39. Kentucky's Cason Wallace and Antonio Reeves then hit consecutive 3-pointers.

But Tshiebwe promptly picked up his fourth foul and sat down with about 13 minutes left in the game. Timme went off for seven points and Gonzaga led 65-55 by the time Tshiebwe returned to the lineup.

Bolton hit four free throws and a 3-pointer to lift Gonzaga to an 84-69 lead with 1:20 left to ice the game.

Calipari refused to play this game at Gonzaga's home venue, the intimate 6,000-seat McCarthey Athletic Center. The Spokane Arena has twice the capacity at about 12,000 seats and was packed with predominantly Gonzaga fans. Gonzaga is 12-6 all-time at the arena, last playing there in 2014.

ATTENDANCE RECORD

The game drew 12,333 fans, the largest crowd ever for any event in the history of the Spokane Arena.

NUMBERS DON'T LIE

Gonzaga sank 19 of 21 free throws ... Kentucky missed all 10 of its 3-point attempts in the first half, but made six of 15 in the second.

BIG PICTURE

Kentucky: The Wildcats lost 86-77 to Michigan State in double overtime on Tuesday and beat South Carolina State 106-63 on Thursday, making Sunday their third game in six days.

Gonzaga: The Bulldogs avoided consecutive losses for the first time since 2018. They have been ranked in the Top 5 for 52 consecutive polls.

UP NEXT

Kentucky: Hosts North Florida on Wednesday.

Gonzaga: Plays Portland State at the PK85 Invitational in Portland, Oregon, on Thursday.

Kentucky's Mark Stoops gets raise, contract extended to 2031

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky football coach Mark Stoops has signed an amended contract extension through June 2031 that in February will boost his base annual salary to $8.6 million plus incentives.

The 10th-year coach, who is earning $6.35 million this season, signed the new deal on Nov. 11, a day before the Wildcats fell 24-21 to Vanderbilt. It replaces the previous extension signed last December that ran through June 2028 and deletes the clause that automatically extended his contract by one year if Kentucky won seven games and by two years for 10 wins.

The deal increases Stoops' buyout from $1.75 million to $4.5 million if he leaves the program before June 30, with decreases of $500,000 before June 30 each subsequent year.

Athletic director Mitch Barnhart said in a news release dated Nov. 18 that was posted on the school's website that the agreement had been in the works for more than a month and added that continuity was "more and more important in today's landscape."

Stoops said in the release that he wanted to affirm his commitment and added, "I've loved it here and am excited for our future."

The revised contract includes bonuses for reaching College Football Playoff semifinal games ranging from $300,000 to $800,000 for winning the national championship.

Already Kentucky's longest-tenured coach, Stoops (65-58) surpassed Paul "Bear" Bryant as its career wins leader with his 61st in a victory over Florida in September. The Wildcats began 4-0 and reached No. 7 in the AP Top 25 but have since lost five of seven, including Saturday's 16-6 home defeat against top-ranked Georgia to finish 3-5 in Southeastern Conference play.

Kentucky closes the regular season on Saturday against rival Louisville before awaiting its school-record seventh consecutive bowl assignment.

Purdue stays in title chase with win over Northwestern

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST LAFAYETTE — Purdue quarterback Aidan O'Connell started his college career as a walk-on buried on the depth chart.

He could finish it by leading the Boilermakers to their first Big Ten championship game.

The sixth-year quarterback threw two more touchdown passes in his final home game Saturday and Purdue's defense forced three second-half turnovers to give the Boilermakers a 17-9 victory over Northwestern that kept their West Division title hopes intact.

"You have a lot that you're playing for, people are talking about postseason stuff and it's not like we're blind to it," O'Connell said when asked about what's at stake next week. "It's up to us to make sure we're locked in and focused on the task at hand."

Purdue (7-4, 5-3) wants to keep it simple.

Jackson-Davis leads No. 12 Indiana in rout of Miami (Ohio)

BY PHILLIP B. WILSON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Senior All-American center Trayce Jackson-Davis scored nine of a game-high 17 points for No. 12 Indiana, which closed the first half on a 22-6 run and cruised to an 86-56 Hoosier Classic victory over Miami (Ohio) on Sunday.

Indiana didn't shoot the ball particularly well early, missing its first six 3s, but took advantage of nine offensive rebounds for 12 second-chance points in the first half.

The Hoosiers were clinging to a 21-20 lead with 7:43 remaining when Jackson-Davis threw down an alley-oop dunk. Tamar Bates added another one, then Jackson-Davis converted a three-point play.

"We're fortunate to have him down there just because he brings so much attention to himself," Bates said of Jackson-Davis. "He's executing at a high level right now, and that's what we expect of him."

Indiana (4-0) led 43-26 at half, a margin that grew to 34 at one point in the second half.

"You want to send the whole cavalry at him," Miami coach Travis Steele said of Jackson-Davis. "He's a monster down there. And he can make you pay with a pass. He's seen double teams his entire life."

It was a homecoming of sorts for Jackson-Davis, who was a star at Center Grove High School in the Indianapolis suburbs. He had his first double-double of the season by halftime with 13 points and 10 rebounds and finished with 16 rebounds for the 33rd double-double of his career.

Jalen Hood-Schifino added 12 points for the Hoosiers, who had 10 players contribute at least five points.

"Jalen will be there when it counts," Indiana coach Mike Woodson said. "He's capable of making big shots."

Julian Lewis and Mekhi Lairy each had 12 points for the Redhawks (1-3).

Miami came out firing and mostly missing from 3-point range, but the Redhawks stayed close early on. The Redhawks were 7 of 22 from beyond the arc in the first half and finished 10 of 34.

"We've got to grow up," Steele said. "We've got a very inexperienced group. We're trying to figure out what wins at college basketball. This ain't high school anymore. This has been a pattern we've had up until this point. We go through these lulls where all of a sudden they go on a big run. Give Indiana credit, they made us pay."

Indiana didn't shoot the ball particularly well early, missing its first six 3s, but took advantage of nine offensive rebounds for 12 second-chance points in the first half.

"I think we just settled in," said Indiana's Miller Kopp, who had 10 points. "Playing any game, you scout teams and know what they're going to run, but it's different when you're out there guarding them. We really just focused in and got a feel for them. Our defense is unrelenting."

BIG PICTURE

Miami: A rough start for first-year coach Travis Steele, whose team was unable to bounce back from an ugly 95-69 home loss to Marshall. The Redhawks' only win so far is against Goshen.

Indiana: After taking in a Pacers home win on Friday night, the Hoosiers took care of business on the same floor against an outmanned Mid-American Conference foe. Three of Indiana's four victories have been by double digits.

UP NEXT

Miami: Host Arkansas-Little Rock on Saturday.

Indiana: Host Arkansas-Little Rock on Wednesday.

Jackson-Davis scores 30, Indiana beats Xavier

BY JEFF WALLNER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Trayce Jackson-Davis scored 30 points, Xavier Johnson had 23, and No. 12 Indiana endured a late rally to beat Xavier 81-79 on Friday night.

The Musketeers (3-1) got a boost from the return of Colby Jones, who missed one game and was limited in practice this week with a right ankle injury.

The Hoosiers (3-0) led 78-70 with 2:25 left, but Xavier rallied within a point in the final minute. Adam Kunkel missed a potential go-ahead layup with 2 seconds left.

"I was concerned coming in," Hoosiers coach Mike Woodson said. "(Xavier) is good. They're big, physical, they can hit shots. We made winning plays down the stretch."

Zach Freemantle and Souley Boum scored 15 points apiece to lead Xavier. Jack Nunge added 14 points and Kunkel had 13.

"There aren't many college basketball games this good before Thanksgiving," Musketeers coach Sean Miller said. "I'm happy with our effort. It came down to the end. Our offense was certainly good enough to win. Our defense wasn't good enough."

The Musketeers (3-1) got a boost from the return of Colby Jones, who missed one game and was limited in practice this week with a right ankle injury. He was cleared to play before warmups and had 13 points and six assists.

"This is a guy who didn't do anything for seven days," Miller said. "I really respect him for what he did for us in this game. He played 36 minutes. A lot of kids wouldn't have done that."

Playing their first road game of the season, the Hoosiers started 0-for-5 from 3-point range before making two straight. The Musketeers made four of their first seven shots from deep.

The inside duo of Nunge and Freemantle combined for 17 points and ten rebounds in the first half as the Musketeers led by as many as nine points before taking a 40-38 lead into halftime.

Jackson-Davis already had 17 points for Indiana at the break.

"I took the load tonight," Jackson-Davis said. "That's what I want to do moving forward. We couldn't assume we were just going to put this game away. We knew they were going to fight. We have big expectations this season. This was a big test."

Foul trouble became an issue for Xavier in the second half.

Boum picked up his fourth foul with 17:18 remaining and was rotated in and out with freshman Desmond Claude. Jones and Freemantle each had four fouls by the five-minute mark.

"A lot of our fouls were from not being set," Miller said. "It changed the game."

The Hoosiers lead the all-time series 9-1. The teams hadn't played since the 2007-08 season.

"There are a lot of lessons you can take from this game," Miller said. "If Adam Kunkel hits that shot, it would be like a parade here. But we'd still have the same issues. We lost to a good basketball team."

TECHNICALITIES

Both Malik Reneau and Johnson were whistled for technical fouls for taunting after made baskets.

"I'm going to stay on them about that," Woodson said. "If you make a shot, you're supposed to make a shot. If you dunk, you're supposed to dunk. Those things can make a difference in the game."

Reneau had 12 points off the bench for Indiana.

"It's an emotional game," he said.

BIG PICTURE

Indiana: Any road win is big for the Hoosiers, who had lost nine straight nonconference games as visitors. IU went 3-8 on the road last season and is 15-40 in away games over the past five seasons. "It's hard to win on the road," Woodson said. "You have to do a lot right. Back in the day, we used to win on the road. We held fast tonight."

Xavier: The Musketeers still have work to do on defense. After allowing 70 points per game last season, they gave up 44 first-half points in an exhibition against Division II Kentucky Wesleyan. Xavier allowed 50 points in the paint on Friday. "Our defense wasn't good enough," Miller said. "We couldn't handle Indiana in the paint.

REBELS

of offensive rebounds and we turned it over a few more times and lost an eight-point lead. But we didn't panic and we came right back and once they tied it they never scored again. So that's a good sign when you get bullied and still fight and continue to get the win at the end."

Southwestern (2-2) led virtually the entire way but early foul trouble ruined any chance the Rebels had at putting away the game.

Southwestern led 17-11 at one point in the first quarter but saw that margin dip to one by midway through the second and the Rebels led 29-26 at halftime. South Dearborn hung around throughout the third and trailed only 37-36 going into the fourth.

The Rebels took advantage of Dearborn's own foul issues to build its biggest lead of the game in the fourth. Riley Scroggins opened the scoring for Southwestern in the frame with a three-point play and, after a Knight turnover, she hit two free throws to give the Rebels a 42-36 lead. Moments later, Chloey Leach put back an offensive rebound to stake Southwestern to its largest lead with 5:41 to play.

Turnovers and fouls plagued the Rebels over the next few minutes, allowing South Dearborn back into the game. Kiersten Dixon's basket with 1:45 to go for the Knights tied the game 48-48.

Southwestern turned the ball over on its next possession but forced an errant Dearborn attempt and then made few mistakes from that point on to the end. Oliver was fouled and hit one free throw but the Rebels forced a turnover and Oliver went back to the line, where she hit another shot to put Southwestern up two.

Oliver actually missed her second attempt but Fulton pulled down the offensive rebound. She passed to Oliver who was fouled again, and this time converted both shots to give the Rebels a four-point cushion.

With just six seconds left, Southwestern pressured South Dearborn's last possession but did not foul and the Knights were unable to get a shot off.

Crank acknowledged that his team made its share of mistakes in the game, but watching them battle through adversity to claim the win was nice to see.

"It's a fun group. I don't care if we win another game the rest of year, every day in practice, it's fun," Crank said. "They get along, they go out to eat together, they hang out together. They stayed together, their attitudes have been great. And I thought pretty much for 32 minutes they brought it in for the whole game."

Fulton was 9-of-11 from the free-throw line and led all scorers with 19 points while also pulling down nine rebounds. Oliver finished the game with 15 points while Scroggins had 10 points and 11 rebounds. Leach ended with eight points and 11 rebounds.

A total of 45 personal fouls were called in the game with the two teams combining to shoot 53 free throws. Southwestern went 20-for-29 from the foul stripe while South Dearborn was 16-for-24. Both teams also had more than 20 turnovers with Southwestern committing 24 and Dearborn 22.

Natalie Cantrell scored 16 points to lead South Dearborn, which fell to 1-6 on the season.

Southwestern's next game is always its biggest of the season as the Rebels travel to Madison on Wednesday for the annual Turkey Shootout game. Crank said that containing nerves will be his young team's biggest challenge in the always packed contest.

"Like I told them, if they come in and do whatever you did today, it gives us a fighting chance," Crank said. "(The game can be) kind of scary and we're kind of inexperienced, and that's the biggest thing I worry, the emotions and atmosphere. But I like our team makeup and I think they'll come out and give us a shot."
